Lost in the Wilderness

Why can't you?

You follow all the rules, you swallow all the stories

And every night you wish on a star, dreaming your day will come, trusting in allegories.

And every morning, boy, look where you are!

Lost in the wilderness.

Lost, slowly dying in the wilderness

With no chance of living, boy, until you confess,

You're lost in the wilderness.

Don't you ever watch the eagle fly to the sun,

And wonder how he got to be so free?

If you ever have, you know your journeys begun.

Hey! What have you got to lose, boy, when already we are lost in the wilderness?

And where we are headed, boy, I couldn't even guess.

But off we go, without a warning.

Running as we hit the ground.

Where our future lies aborning, where our hearts are outward bound.

Til one bright and distant morning, we may stop and look around,

And there, in the wilderness, finally we'll be found.

In Whatever Time We Have

In whatever time we have, for as long as we are living, we can face whatever comes, if we face it now as one.

I could make it on my own; let me know that I don't have to.

No one really wants to be alone, in whatever time we have.

If at times we are afraid, with so little to believe in, it's alright to feel afraid; I will hold you in the dark.

All we know for sure is this: though the world could end tomorrow, you and I will be together in whatever time we have.

We know life can be a battlefield, but we won't run and we won't yield.

You'll be my fortress and I will be your shield.

No one really wants to be alone, in whatever time we have.

There are times I've been afraid, in a world that's so uncertain.

Then I feel your hand in mine, and there's courage in my heart.

We could live a hundred years, or the world could tomorrow.

But we know we'll be together in whatever time...
